

START RUNNING

(L&M: Sir Marlowe)

I got a howling in my ears
You're really wasting all your tears
A bloody joke, a one sided affair
Cause you did and you gotta share

Now it's over, over and over
You sure got two sides

I start running
I start running away
I start running
Searching for better days

Much too weak to find your charms
We're no more lovers in arms
We were the hottest twins in town
Right now I feel like a clown

Now it's over and over
You sure got two sides

I start running
I start running away
I start running
Searching for better days

I start running... running faster... I start running... running faster...
I start running... faster... go out of sight...

I start running
I start running away
I start running
Searching for better days

I start running
I start running away
I start running
Searching for better days
